For Native Teams:

Native Teams is a global platform for hiring and paying employees, designed for remote and flexible work. It helps freelancers, remote workers, and employers manage payments between each other and handle their employment status. The platform offers an "employer of record" service, facilitating proper employment in various countries and ensuring compliance with local laws and regulations. Users can manage their income, invoicing, and taxes within the platform leveraging a multi-currency virtual wallet, an individual IBAN and a spending card. Additionally, Native Teams assists companies in hiring international talent by providing the infrastructure for recruiting and onboarding workers. Thanks to the platform, a company can hire an employee in a country where it does not have a legal entity or office, while the employee is provided with full employment status and receives a salary, pension, insurance, and other benefits in compliance with the local regulations.
